Kris Vallotton | Senior Associate Leader, Bethel

Afternoon, Bethel Austin! Well, God bless you. Kris Vallotton here from Bethel Church. I just want to say, first of all, I want to say it's going to be a great year. This is a year of a brand-new era. It's a year when the Lord is actually releasing us from, moving from revolution to reformation. And I really believe that you guys are going to be in the forefront of something really special. Austin is the capital of Texas, and I believe that God's placed you there for a reason.

I see that you guys are going to be a connection. You're going to be the bridge between revolution and reformation. The Lord wants to touch the very heart of our nation, and every single city. The Lord's raising up these apostolic cities, these apostolic places, these apostolic sending centers that actually can touch the heart of people, and see this revolution that's beginning turn into a reformation. I am deeply concerned about revolution that doesn't have a reformation because it'll be based on justice instead of compassion.

I see red, flowing out from your church into the city, into the state of Texas. That red meaning redemption, meaning reformation, meaning compassion. It's going to be the heart of God. We see the John the Baptist movement is rising right now, but there's a Jesus movement flowing out of Austin. I just want to remind you that you guys have a school now, so you're raising up reformers and revivalists. You're raising up people who will actually have influence in all seven spheres of culture.

So, hey, this is a great year. Be ready for a new wineskin because the wine never changes, but the skin often does, and He's given us a new wineskin. It's current. It's flexible. And God is doing something wonderful there. God bless you. Can't wait to see you in person. Have a wonderful new year!
